

71.taking risks

“The universe will reward you for taking risks on its behalf.” - Shakti Gawain

Take a look around at every successful and happy person you know of, whether in person or from magazine covers. Do you honestly think that any of those people made it by strolling passively through life?

Hell no! Each and every one of them took a risk. Many of them took a lot of risks and do so on a daily basis.

Being true to yourself is definitely a risky business. All of a sudden you have no one to blame. You are fully accountable for everything you say and do.

Back to the successful and happy part, taking a risk is how you get there. Following a boring and safe pattern until you die might allow you to cling to the illusion that you are successful and happy because everyone else you know is doing it.

Do you want more? Take a risk. Change your life.
